

ROUNDABOUT IN GEORGIA

—Cookie-buns are getting ripe. —A Mr. Lovick Agin lives in White county. When the boys meet him they say: "Here's L. Agin!" Even the most fastidious couldn't accuse them of profanity.

—Beer in its wildest form seems to have taken possession of Colonel Williamson, of the Cartersville Express, since he was hobnobbing with Hayes.

—An Augusta woman lamed her husband the other day because he had the amazing audacity to wound himself by sitting down on her new breast-pin.

—The Hartwell Sun is too hard on Milledgeville. It seems to be a settled fact that the climate is healthy enough to cure corruption. If this is true, and is so claimed by the friends of Milledgeville, then it will, in all probability, before the century is over, become a popular resort for corruptionists, who will go there to test the "currying" powers of the atmosphere.

—Colonel B. F. Sawyer has become sole editor and proprietor of the Rome Tribune—Mr. Cohen retiring.

—The editor of the Zalus Christian asks, "Is there a hell?" Such is the report.

—Americus is pinning herself on her great advantage as a cotton market.

—A spiritualist exposer is pulling the ropes in Savannah.

—Judge Tompkins, of Savannah, has returned from Europe.

—Savannah has contributed over three thousand dollars to the yellow fever sufferers at Fernandina.

—Mr. James Brooks, formerly of Dalton, died in Florida recently.

—Five hundred and twenty-eight pupils attended the public schools in Lincoln county last year. Of these three hundred and eighteen were white, and two hundred and ten black. There were twenty-one schools in the county, fourteen white and seven colored.

—The superintendents of fairs are bucking on their armors all over the state.

—Canton was visited by a white voter the other day who did not know that a constitutional convention had been held in Georgia.

—The Jonesboro News learns from various farmers in Spalding, Pike, Monroe, Butts, Henry, Fayette and Clayton counties that the yield of cotton will fall short of general expectation. The rust in some localities, and backwardness in maturing in other places, render the prospect less promising now than it was a few weeks ago. There is more grass going to seed in cotton field this year than we have seen in many a year.

—Newman Herald: A safe place for Georgia legislators, out of the reach of temptation—the stockades of Andersonville.

—Hartwell Sun: We have been in both Milledgeville and Atlanta during the sessions of the legislature, and as far as dissipation, gambling, and all other wicked devilry is concerned, we know Milledgeville was much the worst of the two. It is so much easier to dissipate and the like in a little crowd than in a large one like Milledgeville. These fellows are mighty lean and lank down here now, and it will take a hog's head of pap to fill them again.

—The Gatoosa Courier thinks that north Georgia is "solid" for the reelection of General Gordon to the senate, and thinks candidates for the legislature should be pledged to his support.

—Mr. John B. Thomas writes to the Cartersville Express from New York, Ga., in regard to the Burnt Hickory gold mines as follows: "The Burnt Hickory is located on what is generally known as the Burnt Hickory ridge, of considerable height, and runs northeast and southwest, and the vein some twenty feet below the surface, which alone would yield an immense amount of ore. The only drawback or obstacle we find to complete success in working this mine is the want of water power near at hand, which could be supplied by building a canal or ditch to bring on Raccoon creek. This aqueduct could be built with a small expense, as it would only be five or six miles in length and would afford an abundance of water. In the absence of this water, steam power is a necessity, and this could be had with no great expense as there is enough of water on the property to run all the necessary machinery by steam and water sufficient to lead a ten stamp mill. For a number of years I have been engaged in mining in the silver mines of Utah territory and the gold mines of northern Georgia, and I must say, unhesitatingly, that the mine I have attempted to describe is by far the best that I have ever seen, and I verily believe its superior is not found in the United States, only perhaps with the exception of some few of the celebrated mines on the Colorado, in Nevada. I would further remark that the mineral outcroppings of this section are very flattering, and numerous persons are daily searching for veins. I have seen ores from several localities south of this, which appeared to be rich in this precious metal. I believe the time is not far distant, when this section of country will out-rival not only Georgia in gold mines and other precious metals, but there are already open and daily being developed some splendid copper mines. I have seen, as has been reported, one here and one there in any county. More anon."

—Gleanings from our Southern Mail.

—The Florida State Journal reports a case of yellow fever at Waldo.

—Lynchburg has decided to have a tobacco fair.

—Religious revivals are in progress all over North Carolina.

—Frost has fallen in the mountains of North Carolina.

—Eighty thousand cattle are to be shipped in one lot from Taylor, Texas.

—The governor has ordered out state troops to put down the threatened county seat war in Van Zandt county, Texas.

—Washington and Lee university at Lexington, Va., opened last week with a fair attendance of students.

—Miss Genevieve Rogers is playing Maud Miller in Richmond, and of course, all the judges are charmed.

—The New Orleans Picayune says the storm Sunday lasted thirty six hours in Point Caney, and destroyed one-half or two-thirds of the cotton.

—Raleigh, (N.C.) News: The diptheria is reported as prevailing in several sections of the state. Our exchanges announce a number of deaths from the disease, and there seems in some places to be no abatement.

—A San Antonio, Texas, telegram says that Col. McLeary, of that city, has received instructions from Gov. R. B. Hubbard to immediately raise a regiment of infancy. The troops are ostensibly to be used for frontier service, but it is thought that something else is in wind. Possibly a brush with the greasers.

—The New Orleans Democrat reports great damage to the rice crop, but says of the cause: As in a vast majority of cases, the notably heavy yields of sugar are made in our state from cane that has fallen over or been blown down in September or October, it seems reasonable to suppose that the yield of the cane below the city, or anywhere in the sugar district, will not be decreased this year by the storm.

—Nashville American: A gentleman from Virginia reports the existence of a quite a formidable secret political society in the Shenandoah valley, possessing the somewhat singular title of the "El Bananas." It is understood to be a move in behalf of the republicans, and it is headed by the Hon. Peter Magill, a local politician of Rockingham county, and Maj. R. W. Hunter, of the Winchester Times. It is anti-Holliday, and Gen. Malone has a "finger in the pie."

—Danville (Va.) Times: There is a man living near the railroad in Orange county, Virginia, who belongs to a Florida regiment during the war. He was wounded in one of the numerous battles fought in that portion of Virginia. The surgeon told him he could never recover the use of his leg.

"Then," said he, "I shall never leave this battle field." And he has kept his word. His tobacco lot was pointed out to us, and we were informed that he has a little factory where he makes chewing and smoking tobacco. Strange fancy in him to spend his life on the battle field where he lost his leg.

Remedies that Disfigure the teeth are speedily removed by SOZODONT, the great purifying and beautifying agent. The gums are made rosy and healthy by its use, and that mortifying defect, an unpleasant breath, is completely remedied by it. It is the King of Dentifrices.
